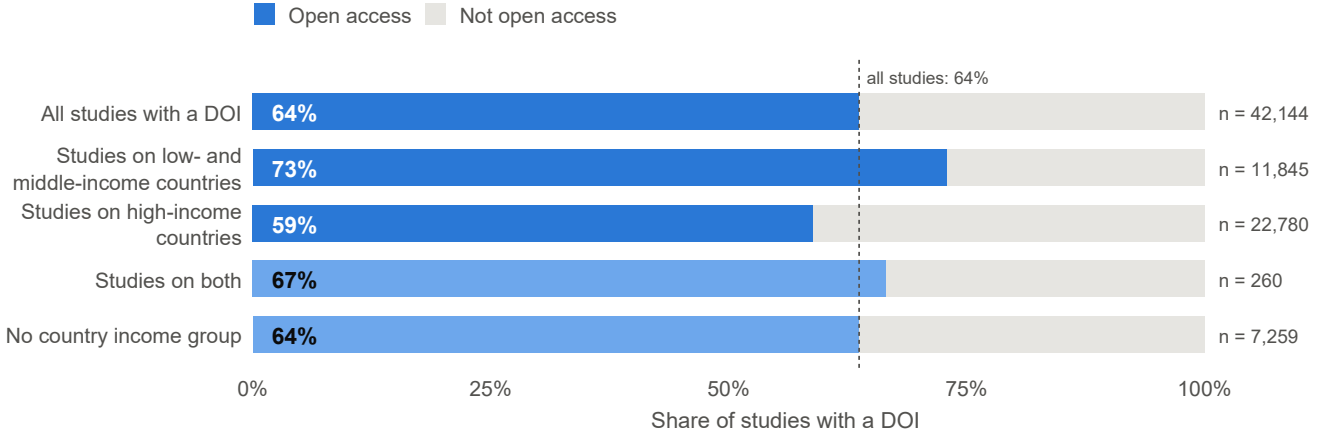
Most health financing studies are open access, more so on low- and middle-income countries



n = 42,144 studies with a DOI. Income group of the countries studied: studies on high-income countries study only high-income countries, studies on low- and middle-income countries only low- or middle-income ones; studies on both and studies naming no country (or none with an income group) are shown for completeness.